Exit Driveway—

Concrete Succumbs To Grass

Concrete has finally succumbed to grass on the inter-campus drive.

130 feet of the drive has been torn up and re-sodded with grass, extending from the northwest corner of the library to the front steps of the Student Center.

According to Physical Plant Head Clarence Lefler, the drive has presented serious "student safety problems". For fear of a student being flattened by a car, the drive is being permanently sealed off as a safety measure.

Formerly a wire fence had been used to block the drive. However, according to university officials, the possibility existed that "public pressure" could possibly bring down the wire fence, hence the planting of the grass.

The basic reason behind the action stems from a lack of proper driving from a few out-of-town visitors to the campus and a number of the local high school kids barreling down the hill from the field house.

Too Much Danger

With heavy student traffic crossing the inter-campus drive, the danger to students just became too great, said university officials.

Another factor behind the action were the cross-country drivers on campus. No longer will drivers be able to use the sidewalk and yard by the library for a street as some have in the past.

Davis: Plays Duo Role Fair Manager-Professor

Managing the Douglas County Fair may not be relaxing but it is an interesting way to spend a summer vacation, according to one member of the faculty at Omaha University.

Harold Davis, assistant professor in the engineering department, was asked by the Douglas County Agricultural Society to accept the position of secretary of the fair last year. The position was to take up a few weeks of his summer vacation. Instead, he finds he works most of the year at this "summer" job.

His duties include preparing a list of prizes, publishing fair literature, hiring entertainers, arranging rides for the midway, hiring maintenance people and preparing a schedule of events. He even supervises the buying of ice cream cones for the children of lost parents.

The fair will feature the produce, animals and handicraft of people in rural Douglas County. Premiums will be awarded for entries judged to be the best in each class.

The fair will be held August 27, 28, 29, and 30 at the fair grounds in Waterloo, Nebr.

The Hoosier Hot Shots will appear each day along with other performers.

The associate professor came here in 1960 from Chadron State where he taught for a number of years.

Nehmer received his B.S. from Wisconsin State in 1952 and his M.A. in fine arts in '53-'54 from Colorado State.

Hawkins Quit Working Due To Wage Dispute

All classes will be dismissed at 10:30 a.m. for seniors only. The meeting and presentation will be held in the Student Center Ballroom.

The gift is paintings purchased from OU art students. The paintings will be used in one of the Student Center's student organization's rooms.

Also, the traditional tree will be planted on campus in a pre-designated spot.

Dr. Ralph Wardle will be guest speaker at the presentation.

Tomorrow, the annual Senior dinner dance will be held at the Blackstone Hotel. Dr. Wilfred Payne will be guest speaker at the dinner which begins at 6:30 p.m. The dance will begin at 9 p.m. with Bob Edson providing the entertainment.

Workers Were Ahead Of Sept. Deadline

Reasons for the strike which have halted work on the south addition to the Applied Arts Building are still hazy after a 5-day work layoff.

The work stoppage which began Monday, stems from a wage dispute between the general contractor, Hawkins Construction Company of Omaha and Laborers Local 427, Sioux City, Ia. Hawkins is doing work on a meat packing plant in Cherokee, Ia. and the union in Sioux City originated the strike there for higher wages.

Laborers local 1140, here in Omaha, honored the strike in Cherokee and struck the Omaha University site; work was also stopped at the Sterling Morton School at 99th and Ames, under construction by Hawkins, and the Western Securities Building at 50th and Dodge streets.

Timothy Parks, office manager for the construction firm, said the company was rather surprised that the local in Omaha would honor the strike against his firm by the Sioux City local. He said, however, the practice of striking the company in sites around the layoff area seems to be the thing. He said it seems to be a bargaining trick.

The laborers for Hawkins were not the only ones affected by the strike. The company had in its employ at the time of the strike a crew of carpenters as well as iron workers. Mr. Parks said several brick layers were to be hired this week at the OU site.

Warren Miller, business representative for the Omaha laborers local, said he heard nothing of the strike until Monday morning at 10 a.m. He said he knew nothing of the dispute and did not care to comment.

Members of the Omaha local were at the OU site and the other two sites at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

At the time of the work layoff the company was an estimated six percent ahead of its deadline of September 1. There is a penalty clause in Hawkins contract which will cost them $100 per day every day they run over their deadline.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

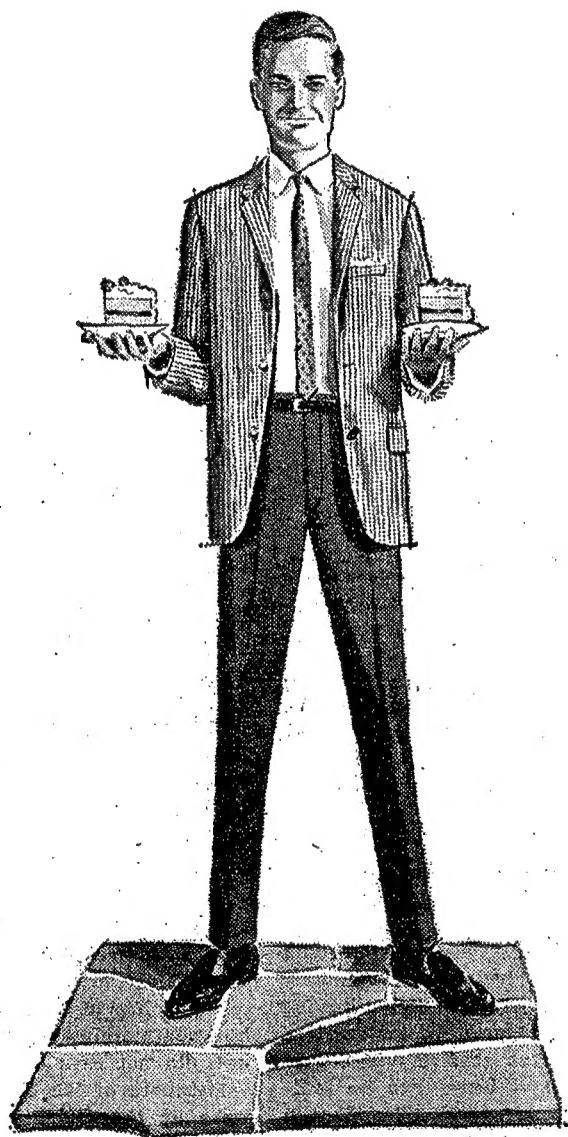

The 1964 Ma-ie Day festivities had the largest turnout that it has had in quite a number of years. I think those who attended found they experienced a number of varied feelings: sleepiness at the 7:30 a.m. sunrise breakfast and dance, humor when sleepy-eyed Willie Wakefield finally appeared to play his drums, excitement before the crowning of the Ma-ie Day Princess and a definite wind-blown feeling during the parade.

Others experienced an egg, pie and mud-covered feeling during the games, and that full-bellied feeling after a filling lunch. And that final satisfying feeling of exhaustion came to most at the end of a full days' activities.

The Student Council would like to express thanks to all who participated in Ma-ie Day and especially all those who helped make it such a success despite the wind!

Thanks Again!

PATTI MATSON,
Student Council Publicity Chairman.

Do Finals Show Students Ability Asks Cowman Or Should You Keep Driving Up Dodge

by Jim Cowman

Well, it's that time of year again (8:45 Daylight Savings.) This means finals are just around the corner, so if you keep going straight on Dodge you will miss them.

However, it is my opinion (I don't see why I should take all the blame) that College finals are too specialized to give an accurate picture of the individual's liberal knowledge. But on the other hand, (my left), the following exam will test the individual's "practical" knowledge; and I think that it should replace all existing exams. Anyone who agrees, write this office. Anyone who doesn't,—who asked ya?

Final Exam (time: one week)

I. If you have four aces in five card draw, would you . . .
a. Draw four cards and hope for a strait b. Think you had somebody else's hand and call a mis-deal c. Bluff it out

II. Do pop-top cans cause Cancer of the fingers?

a. Yes b. No c. I'll let you know Monday

III. What do you think of "Odds Botkin" in the fifth at AK.?

a. Win b. Place c. Show d. Nyaaa! He's a dog

IV. If your partner bids two spades, would you . . .

a. Pass b. Bid seven no trump c. Finesse and pretend you know what you are doing d. Throw your cards at your partner and walk out in a huff

V. Fairness is . . .

a. A Peace Corps appointment b. A cafeteria boycott c. All of the above d. None of the above e. Most of the above

VII. Interpret this poem:

flying; soaring; Heaven bound the grapes are brightly shining seeking quickly; quickly found
Ah-ru, Ah-ru is you the Law?

VIII. Essay (choice of any two)

How I plan to make enough money to pay next year's tuition What makes me think I can enroll here again anyway? What ever happened to multiple choice exams?

I am well aware that this exam is not much of a test for the Intelligensia; but if one can't pass it, four years of college isn't going to do him a bit of good. This, after all, is a test of life itself.

Intern Follows Profs Footsteps, Does Good Job

Career Combination Spurs Interest

by Mardelle Tarkington

When Ron Baken, a graduate intern in speech pathology at the University of Omaha decides to follow in a favorite instructor's footsteps he does a thorough job.

As a student at Columbia University, Ron had a class in phonetics with Dr. Walter Beaupre as the instructor. When Dr. Beaupre came to Omaha to head the OU speech clinic, Ron decided he had found his forte in speech pathology and left New York City for graduate studies in the mid-west.

Now, Ron is teaching an evening class at OU in 'Phonetics of American Speech', and working with Omahans who have various speech problems.

Actually, Ron's new career is a combination of two other career interests — medicine and English. His medical career began with courses at the Bronx High School of Science (a public school for gifted children). He later took pre-medicine at Columbia University and made a trial run at nursing. Following the latter experience, Ron found medicine was not all he hoped it would be.

"I switched to French and the romance languages and received my degree in this category". He didn't realize that a transition to oral from written language was in the making — but the phonetics course turned the trick.

Among the people he works with to overcome their problems are clients from Boystown and occasionally, children who must iron out speech problems before entering elementary school.

Although Ron is still on the student level he has discovered a basic fact necessary for defeating speech problems that should take him far in a career. He believes that "speech therapy requires a great deal of understanding in regard to the psychological processes of the human being".

OU Alums To Send Student For Summer Visit In Iran

by Deb Pelowski

Trudy Shimko has been chosen as Omaha U's second ambassador to live abroad this summer. She will leave July 4 for a two month's stay with a family in Iran.

Sponsoring Trudy on her goodwill visit are the University of Omaha Alumnae Association, the Gilbert Swanson Foundation and the Daniel Cary Foundation. It is part of "The Experiment in International Living", the purpose of which is to strive for peace in the world — two people at a time.

Trudy, a 19-year-old sophomore, is a transfer student from Kansas State. She is majoring in Spanish, but eventually hopes to get a degree in Russian studies. She has taken six hours of Russian history and six of Russian geography.

"It has always been a dream to go abroad, but I never thought it would really happen", stated Trudy enthusiastically. Trudy, a Bishop Ryan graduate, was an American Field Service finalist her junior year in high school.

Her first choice was Turkey, but as Trudy says, "I am just as thrilled about going to Iran. It is a less heard of country and presents more of a mystery to me. It is located nearer to Russia, too".

Trudy will arrive in Putney, Vermont, on July 6 for a six-day orientation period to acquaint her with the country. After a stop in New York, she will fly to London, have a short layover in Athens and then Iran, where she will live for six weeks.

After she returns in September, Trudy hopes to perpetuate the infant program at OU through speeches to various civic organizations to raise financial support needed for a third ambassador next year. Jim Pelowski, last year's ambassador to Egypt, has returned approximately six hundred dollars, through speaking engagements, to the Alumnae Association's Ambassador Fund for Trudy's use this year. Both ambassadors agree, the Experiment in International Living can do but one thing on this campus, "Grow!"

Although busy with her summer plans, Trudy manages a 25-hour work week and maintains a 2.93 grade average.

OU Is Given Flag By Student Council

An American flag was presented to Omaha University May 8 in a short ceremony preceding the Ma-ie Day crowning of Princess Attira XXX.

Student Council President Dud Kersey presented the flag to Dr. Milo Bail, explaining that the Student Council had noticed the need for a new one. President Bail expressed gratitude on behalf of the University faculty and student body.

Kristy Isaacson presented the original idea to purchase a new flag to the Student Council and headed the committee to purchase the new one. She also designed a new OU flag, which is now being made. The Student Council will present it to the student body in the fall.

Omaha University is fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools.

Carley Takes Third In CIC Golf Meet

Bootstrapper Curt Carley finished third in the CIC Golf Championships held at Miracle Hills last Monday and Tuesday.

No other Indian golfer has finished as high in the championships since 1962 when Bootstrapper Bill Giese took medalist honors.

Rain and inclement weather caused postponement of the last nine holes as Washburn took top honors with a 767 total.

Jerry Adams of Washburn won a three-hole playoff for medal honors with Dan Tourtelot of Pittsburg after each had tied with 183's.

The final tabulation:

Washburn	767
Pittsburg	773
Emporia	783
Omaha	788
Ft. Hays	807

Other Indian scores besides Carley's 189 third place finish were: Bill Hoffman, 200; Jim Thompson, 196; Paul Anderson, 206; and Bill Poindexter, 208.

Pecha's A Busy Man

Pitcher, Coach, Referee: Frank's All Three

By Dick Fletcher

One of the Reasons Omaha University's baseball team is undefeated this year is a fast-balling pitcher by the name of Frank Pecha.

The right-hander has a 5-0 record, 31 strikeouts in 30 innings, a 1.800 earned run average, and has allowed only 13 hits. In his first year at OU, Frank had a 1-1 mark in relief; last year he won five games and lost one while being bothered with bursitis in the elbow. Frank credits his improvement, along with the entire pitching staff's to intense competition between hurlers Ken McEwen, and Larry Krehbiel and himself.

Although he's an academic senior, Frank will be back next year to finish up his eligibility while he gets an English minor to go with his history minor and physical education major.

Besides his own school work to keep busy with, Frank is involved in a major project while student teaching at Lewis and Clark school. Frank serves as a physical education instructor and is helping to revise norms in gymnastics for the Omaha Public School System...

After being graduated next year, Frank would like to teach full time, and get into high school coaching. He's laid a good foundation by coaching midget baseball teams the last four summers, and two of the teams won championships.

When not working with young boys, or playing baseball, the 1960 Omaha Cathedral graduate works as an umpire. Last year Frank arbitrated American Legion games and looks forward to moving up to the college level this year.

Officiating doesn't stop at baseball for the ambitious hurler. He's a member of the Nebraska-Iowa Officials Association and referees high school football and basketball games in the area.

We'd like to say some nice things about America's young adult drivers

And we think we've got good reason! Last January, we selected twenty 18- and 19-year-old young men and women through the Junior Achievement program to drive our team of Chevrolets in the Mobil Economy Run, April 3-9. It was the first time any company had relied entirely on drivers with limited experience in this exacting competition.

We brought these young adults—most of them college students, some from the business world—to Arcadia, California, in late February. For six weeks, our expert teachers trained them in the skills of economy driving.

Then, on April 3, they set off on the Run, 3,243 miles from Los Angeles to New York.

We were going against the grain. It takes high proficiency to win the Mobil Economy Run. Competition is tough. Why did we rely on drivers with such limited experience?

Chevrolet wanted to give the Chevy Teen Team a chance to prove in front of the nation that they and the 6.5 million licensed drivers in their age bracket are safe, sane people behind the wheel. We felt the Run offered a splendid chance.

The Corvair, Chevy IIs, Chevelles and Chevrolets driven by the Chevy Teen

Team in the Mobil Economy Run did remarkably well compared with the class winners in overall miles-per-gallon figures. The final results are a tribute to the high degree of driving skill displayed by the Chevy Teen Team representing the youth of America.

No wonder we're proud of America's young adult drivers. We couldn't have a better reason.

AAU, NAIA Meets Up Next For Cardwell's Trackmen

By Mike Moran

The regular season is over and now begins the long grind before the big "payoff" for Omaha University trackmen.

Rocket Roger Sayers elected to pass up the Coliseum Relays tonight in Los Angeles to rest his leg. Sayers strained a muscle above the knee on his left leg during the CIC meet last weekend and although it is not serious, the OU ace decided against such a severe test right away.

Sayers and Terry Williams along with their less publicized teammates, will begin serious training next week for the Midwest AAU at Fremont on May 29-30 and the NAIA championships at Sioux Falls the first week of June.

Indians Second Last Time

The Indians took second in the NAIA meet last year behind Maryland State. Sayers won the 100 and the 220 besides anchoring the Indian 440 relay team to a third place finish.

The AAU and the NAIA meets will be used as springboards for Olympic qualification. A runner can qualify by being first or second in any NAIA event or he can qualify for the trials through the AAU route which includes the national meet at New Brunswick, N. J., or the local meet.

OU's Ken Gould appears a strong contender for distance laurels at the Sioux Falls carnival. Gould ran a 4:12 mile at the CIC meet which netted him third place behind Emporia's John Camien.

Gould's finish and Williams' win in the 100 and 220 were the only bright spots in an otherwise dismal Omaha showing at Fort Hays. Soph Williams ran a 9.8 century but set a CIC mark of 21.5 in the 220.

A Brief Recap

This latest track season, while not as spectacular as some in the past, did produce some satisfying events.

Sayers and Williams are both far ahead of their individual paces of a year ago. The Rocket was plagued by injuries at this time last spring and Williams, though healthy, was inconsistent.

Both have turned in 9.5 hundreds more than once and their 220 marks of 21.0 by Sayers and 21.5 by Williams are far better than any—either turned in last year.

One must be realistic when he talks about the Olympics and analyze the OU pair's chances. Sprinters seem to come out of the walls at this time of the year. North Carolina College's Ed Roberts has a 9.2, to his credit as does Fresno State's balding Darel Newman.

Mike Spratt of Houston, R. A. LaSater of East Texas, Dick Stebbins of Grambling and Billy Foster of SMU all have 9.4's so far.

Big Bobby Hayes has never been better and has turned in three clockings of 9.1 to equal his previous world mark.

In the longer sprints, Arizona State's Henry Carr, Uli Williams from the same school, and Adolph Plummer of New Mexico are cinch choices.

The field is big, fast and frightening. The ultimate U. S. sprint team at Tokyo will be composed of boys who wanted to get there more than the others and who have managed to stay healthy.

Desire, courage, stamina, a will to win and of course, raw talent, will tell the final story. Both Sayers and Williams have these tools. The one thing that they have to do is to set aside all other personal problems and offsetting difficulties to concentrate on these items. Roger has a family to support and Terry also must earn a living. Hats off to either boy for coming as far as they have.

St. Joe Up Next For OU?

Indians In NAIA Playoffs Tonight

The baseball team is engaged in its fifth bid for a spot in the NAIA "Little College World Series," June 8-12, in St. Joseph, Mo.

The Indians are playing today in the Area Three South Playoffs. Other teams in the double-elimination tournament being held at Municipal Stadium are: Sterling College and Washburn of Kansas, and Wayne State of Nebraska.

Omaha University, who took a 14-0 regular season record into action, was seeded number one, in the playoffs. The winner will face the NAIA Area Three North champ, North Dakota and South Dakota teams are in the north playoffs.

The Area Three winner in the two-out-of-three series will go to the "Little College World Series."

"We'll play them one game at a time, and go with our best pitcher in each situation," coach Virgil Yelkin said. Weekend rainouts in double-headers against Rockhurst and Wililams and Jewel have left the Indians out of shape, according to Yelkin.

OU will be led by all-American candidates Wayne Backes and Larry Krehbiel. Backes finished the regular season with a .450 batting average, two home runs, and 12 runs-batted-in. The left-handed outfielder is wrapping up a four-year career for Omaha U.

Krehbiel, the nationwide NAIA leader with a 0.000 earned run average, will be looking to better his 5-0 record and lengthen his string of 35 consecutive scoreless innings.

The strong-armed junior hasn't lost a game in his college career, finishing last season with a 7-0 mark. He's the first OU hurler to complete a season without giving up a run.

Krehbiel's last win cemented the CIC title for OU; weather caused the final conference games with Pittsburg State of Kansas to be cancelled. It was the 6th consecutive crown for the Indians, who have compiled an amazing 113-22 record since 1959.

Virgil Yelkin, University of Omaha baseball coach, was named NAIA Baseball Coach of the Year in 1962.

Track Coach Lloyd Cardwell at the University of Omaha played seven years with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.
